2 Days in Beijing: The Perfect Family Trip with Parents

Bringing your parents to Beijing is one of the most meaningful trips you can take. The capital is full of iconic landmarks, incredible food, and moments that will make your parents beam with pride. This 2-day itinerary is designed for a relaxed pace -- shorter walks, more rest stops, and all the must-see highlights without the exhaustion.

Day 1: Classic Beijing -- Show Parents the Highlights

8:00 AM -- Tiananmen Square (天安门广场)

Start at the heart of China. Tiananmen Square is the world's largest public square and a place every Chinese parent dreams of seeing. Walk across the vast square, take photos with the Monument to the People's Heroes, and soak in the grandeur. If your parents are early risers, come at sunrise (around 5:30 AM in summer) to watch the flag-raising ceremony (升旗仪式) -- it's a deeply moving experience for Chinese elders.

全天开放 | 免费 | ! 需刷身份证过安检, 外国人需带护照

9:00 AM -- Forbidden City (故宫)

Walk through the Tiananmen Gate tower into the Forbidden City -- 600 years of imperial history in 72 hectares.

Pace tip for parents:

Don't try to see everything. Walk the central axis from Meridian Gate (午门) to Gate of Divine Prowess (神武门) -- this covers all the major halls (太和殿, 中和殿, 保和殿) in about 2 hours. There are benches and rest areas throughout.

Elderly-friendly:

Electric carts (电瓶车) are available at the west gate for ¥10/person -- perfect if parents get tired. The Imperial Garden (御花园) at the north end has beautiful ancient trees and is a great rest spot.

8:30-17:00 (Apr-Oct) / 8:30-16:30 (Nov-Mar) | ¥60 (Apr-Oct) / ¥40 (Nov-Mar) | ! Must book online 7 days ahead via WeChat mini-program "故宫博物院" | 电瓶车

¥10/人 (西门入口处)

12:00 PM -- Lunch at Quanjude Roast Duck (全聚德)

No trip to Beijing with parents is complete without Peking duck, and Quanjude is THE name parents know. Founded in 1864, this is the most famous roast duck restaurant in China -- your parents will love telling their friends they ate here. The duck is carved tableside with crispy skin, thin pancakes, scallions, and sweet bean sauce. Order the whole duck (整只烤鸭) for the full experience. The Qianmen main branch has the most history and atmosphere.

11:00-14:00, 16:30-20:30 | ¥200-300/桌 (整只鸭约¥238) | 建议提前1天预约

2:30 PM -- Temple of Heaven (天坛)

The Temple of Heaven is more beautiful and less physically demanding than the Forbidden City -- the paths are flat and wide, perfect for parents. The Hall of Prayer for Good Harvests (祈年殿) is an architectural masterpiece with its triple-gable blue roof. Walk through the Long Corridor (长廊) where locals gather to play cards, practice calligraphy, and perform tai chi -- parents love watching (and joining!) these activities. The Echo Wall (回音壁) is fun: stand at opposite ends and whisper to each other.

6:00-21:00 | ¥15 (联票¥34含祈年殿/回音壁/圜丘) | 全程平坦，适合老人步行

5:30 PM -- Wangfujing Street (王府井大街)

End Day 1 at Beijing's most famous shopping street. Wangfujing is a pedestrian boulevard with department stores, souvenir shops, and the iconic Wangfujing Snack Street (王府井小吃街) -- a night market with dozens of stalls selling everything from lamb skewers to scorpions on sticks (parents will love the photo ops!). Visit the Wangfujing Catholic Church (王府井天主堂) at the north end -- a beautiful Gothic church that's a surprising oasis in the middle of the city.

全天开放，店铺约10:00-22:00 | 免费逛街 | 小吃街 17:00-23:00

Day 2: Great Wall & Cultural Experience

7:30 AM -- Mutianyu Great Wall (慕田峪长城)

The Great Wall is THE reason most parents want to visit Beijing, and Mutianyu is the best section for families. It's less crowded than Badaling, beautifully restored, and most importantly -- has a cable car both up AND down

. This is essential for parents who can't climb steep stairs. Take the cable car up to Tower 14, enjoy the breathtaking views, walk a few towers east (the path is wide and well-maintained), then cable car back down. The toboggan slide (滑道) is also an option for the more adventurous parents!

Getting there:

Book a private car via DiDi (¥200-300 round trip, 1.5 hours each way). This is the most comfortable option for parents. Alternatively, take bus 916 Express from Dongzhimen

Bus Station (东直门公交站) to Huairou, then transfer to bus H23 (total ¥15, 2 hours -- not recommended for elderly).

7:30-18:00 (Apr-Oct) / 8:00-17:00 (Nov-Mar) | ¥40 entry + ¥120 往返缆车 | !

提前在微信小程序购票

1:00 PM -- Lunch at Siji Minfu (四季民福)

After the Great Wall, treat parents to another duck experience -- this time at Siji Minfu, the locals' favorite. The duck here is slightly different from Quanjude: more crispy, with a fruit-wood aroma. The Dongsì branch (东四十条店) has a beautiful courtyard setting.

Order the duck, plus their excellent 芥末鸭掌 (mustard duck feet) and 宫保鸡丁 (kung pao chicken). Parents will appreciate comparing the two duck styles!

11:00-14:00, 17:00-21:30 | ¥150-250/桌 | 本地人最爱的烤鸭店

3:30 PM -- Summer Palace (颐和园)

The Summer Palace is the perfect afternoon activity -- it's essentially a giant imperial garden with a lake. Take a boat ride on Kunming Lake (昆明湖) -- the dragon boat (龙舟) cruises are relaxing and scenic, with views of the Longevity Hill (万寿山) and the famous Seventeen Arch Bridge (十七孔桥). Walk along the Long Corridor (长廊), a 728-meter covered walkway with over 14,000 hand-painted scenes from Chinese mythology.

Parent-friendly:

The boat ride means less walking, and there are plenty of benches along the corridor.

6:30-18:00 (Apr-Oct) / 7:00-17:00 (Nov-Mar) | ¥30 (联票¥60含苏州街/佛香阁/德和园) | 龙舟

¥10-15/人

6:30 PM -- Evening Stroll: Liangma River (亮马河) or Nanluoguxiang (南锣鼓巷)

End the trip with a gentle evening walk. Choose based on your parents' energy level:

* Liangma River (亮马河)

* -- Beijing's newest waterfront promenade in Chaoyang District. Beautifully lit at night with bridges, cafes, and a "Little Venice" vibe. Flat, wide paths perfect for a relaxed stroll.

Great for parents who enjoy a modern, upscale atmosphere.

* Nanluoguxiang (南锣鼓巷)

* -- A 800-year-old hutong alley with quirky shops and traditional Beijing snacks. More cultural and traditional. Try the famous 文宇奶店 (Wenyu Dairy) for Beijing yogurt.

Parents love the old-world hutong atmosphere.

亮马河全天开放，灯光18:00-22:00 | 南锣鼓巷店铺约10:00-22:00 | 免费

Family Tips:

- * Pace is everything:

- * Don't rush. Plan 2-3 major sights per day max, with long lunch breaks. Parents appreciate quality over quantity.

- * Accessibility:

- * Forbidden City has electric carts; Temple of Heaven is flat; Mutianyu has cable cars.

Avoid Jingshan Park if parents have knee issues (stairs).

- * Rest stops:

- * Every major attraction has benches and shaded areas. The Forbidden City and Temple of Heaven both have tea houses inside.

- * Payment:

* Set up Alipay/WeChat Pay for parents before the trip. Cash is rarely accepted. ATMs at airports accept international cards.

* Weather:

* Beijing is dry and hot in summer (35 degC+), cold in winter (-10 degC). Spring (April-May) and autumn (Sept-Oct) are ideal. Bring sunscreen, hats, and water bottles.

* Transport:

* Use DiDi (滴滴出行) for comfort -- it's China's Uber. The metro is efficient but can be crowded during rush hour (7-9 AM, 5-7 PM). Get a Yikatong (一卡通) transit card at any metro station.

* Essential apps:

* 高德地图 (navigation), 大众点评 (restaurant reviews), DiDi (ride-hailing), 翻译 (translation)

* Medical:

* Carry basic medicines (painkillers, stomach meds). International hospitals:

北京协和医院, 北京和睦家医院 (United Family Hospital).
